Honors Council Established To Enrich Student Education

The University of Bridgeport has formed an "Honors Council" consisting of the president, vice president and one member of the faculty of each college, according to Pres. James H. Halsey.

The Honors Council has been established to examine various honors programs and to consider proposals that could be put into effect at the University in September, at the start of the 1962-63 academic year.

President Halsey stated that Dr. William R. McKenzie, professor of Education will serve as director of honors and chairman of the council. Professor McKenzie, representative from the College of Education, was instrumental in the founding of the honors program at the University.

Other members of the council include: Dr. Halsey; Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice president of the University; Dr. John A. Rastias, associate professor of foreign languages, College of Arts and Science; Austin G. Chapman, Jr., associate professor of accounting, College of Business Administration; Robert E. Redmann, professor of industrial design, College of Engineering; Dr. Eileen Lord, associate professor of art, Junior College of Connecticut; and Miss Nelliana Best, associate professor of public health, College of Nursing.

"The activities of the council will add materially to the process of enriching the educational experience of the University students," stated Dr. Halsey in regards to the Honors Council.

Dr. Halsey also explained that the criteria for the selection of honors students are to be determined by the honors council, which will also establish suitable responsibilities and recognition for this designation.

Guidance, Personnel Administrator To Speak at Leadership Conference

Dr. Gordon John Klopff, associate professor in the fields of guidance and personnel administration at Teachers College, Columbia University will be guest of honor at the University's first Leadership Conference, to be held at the Student Center on March 3 and 4.

Dr. Klopff has worked as chairman on the Advisory Council for the United States Student Association. He received his Doctorate of Philosophy degree from the University of Wisconsin. After an impressive career in this country, Dr. Klopff was invited to the Universities of Tokyo, Kyoto and Kyushu as a team member serving with the United States Army and the Department of State.

After traveling around the world, Dr. Klopff made his home in New York City and now gives frequent lectures throughout the nation. "College Student Government" and "Student Leadership and Government in Higher Education" are two of his most recent publications. At the conference Dr. Klopff will lead a discussion on the film, "Lifeboat," a full-length movie starring Talullah Bankhead, which is concerned with group dynamics and leadership.

The purpose of the conference is to give students an opportunity to discover and supplement latent leadership qualities. Registration will be from Wednesday, Feb. 14 to Friday, Feb. 23, in the Dining Hall from 5 to 6:30 p. m. Applications may also be obtained through the individual dormitories. On Feb. 2 there will be a table set up in the Student Center from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. for interested commuter students.

New members of the student steering committee, which is continuing preparations for the meetings are Frank Miller, Bill Sinclair and Craig Stevens.

Priscilla Dunn Best Dressed

Priscilla Dunn, an 18 year-old freshman from Wellesley, Massachusetts, has been chosen the Best-Dressed Girl on the University campus for Glamour's "Ten Best Dressed" annual contest.

Miss Dunn, one of 20 candidates selected by student organizations and dormitories, was scored highly by the judges on all qualifications. As the University representative, she will now compete with the semi-finalists from hundreds of American campuses in the national contest to choose the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America."

If she is selected as one of the ten best-dressed girls, Miss Dunn will appear in Glamour's annual August college issue and will spend two expense-paid weeks in New York as a guest of the magazine.

AIESEC Applicants Requested

The AIESEC Chapter of the University is asking students still wishing to apply for participation in its traineeship program during the coming summer to submit their applications before the end of February. AIESEC (The International Association of Students in Economics and Commerce) is a reciprocal job exchange program. It enables students interested in the fields of economics, the various phases of business, and international affairs to live in a foreign country and work for a firm there as an AIESEC trainee during summer vacations. The trainee's wages are tax free and sufficient enough to cover expenses, including recreational expenses.

Last year over 3,000 college students from the United States participated in the exchange program. The AIESEC National Committee looks forward to seeing this figure surpassed this year. It will mean a feather in the "Purple Knight's" cap if a large number of trainees from the University represents AIESEC abroad.

Students who take part in the program this year have the choice of training and vacationing in one of 27 different countries. The majority of AIESEC exchanges go to Europe. But one of the recent accomplishments of AIESEC is that it can now offer trainee jobs in Africa and Latin America.

Students are eligible for a AIESEC exchange if (1) they are registered students of the University at the level of sophomore or above, (2) they have had at least one course in economics, (3) they are interested in either the field of business or of international affairs, and (4) they have at least a basic knowledge of either French, Spanish, or German, if they would like to travel to a country in which one of these languages is spoken. The latter qualification is optional but preferable. Those students wishing more information or interested in applying to AIESEC can

Student Gets Degree Shortly Before Death

The lifetime ambition of William A. Badal to graduate from an American university was fulfilled with the assistance of the University last week, but cancer claimed the life of the 28 year-old native of Iran on Wednesday, Feb. 7.

Badal was a senior in the College of Engineering at the University and planned to complete the requirements for graduation last summer. He enrolled in the University's summer session, but had to withdraw from school when he was admitted to St. John's Hospital in Yonkers, New York, where his family currently resides.

Badal was not told that he had contracted a rare and incurable cancer although his heartbroken family knew that the doctors held little hope for his survival.

He felt well enough, however, to leave the hospital and again enroll at the University last September, planning to complete the requirements for graduation at the end of the fall semester. But illness again overtook him in November and for the second time he was admitted to St. John's Hospital.

Due to his deep-rooted desire for a college degree and his high academic standing in the College of Engineering, the University agreed to overlook the strict academic requirements and confer the degree of bachelor of science in mechanical engineering upon him. This was done in St. John's Hospital, presenting a note of happiness in the room filled with sadness. Only a few days later, cancer claimed the life of Badal.

Kazin B. Sevinic, assistant instructor in manufacturing engineering and also a native of Iran, spearheaded the efforts to help Badal receive his degree.

Badal was active in extra-curricular activities at the University where he was a member of the Engineering Society and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

A former sergeant in the United States Army, Badal was given a military funeral on Saturday in his hometown of Yonkers.

Jacoby Lecture Tickets Required

Students must have tickets for the Jacoby Lecture by Sen. Barry Goldwater at the University in the Gym next Wednesday at 2 p. m., President James H. Halsey said today.

I.D. cards without tickets will not guarantee admission to the program due to heavy request from people outside the University family.

Tickets may be obtained at the Information Desk in the Carlson Library. I.D. cards must be presented to obtain tickets.

Extra tickets for parents or faculty and staff members are now available at the Public Relations Office.

ID PICTURES

Those who have not yet had pictures taken for University ID cards may do so between 2-4 p. m., Friday, Feb. 16, in room 205 of the Student Center. Mrs. Marion Hotchkiss, Director of Alumni Hall and Social Activities, strongly urges all students to take care of this matter promptly.

ON FRIDAY, FEB. 16, the Sweetheart Ball will be highlighted by the crowning of one of these lovelies as Sweetheart Queen. Included in the group are: Marilyn Sager, Ilene Schumann, Jo-Ann Lipton, Debbie Hartley, Jill Faulkner, Margaret Lind, and Linda Krichman.

Campus Radio Station — To Be or Not To Be?

Within the last ten years, the enrollment at the University has increased considerably, and it promises to become even greater in the near future. Nearly six thousand full and part-time students are taking courses this semester, and this represents one of the largest enrollments in the school's history.

The number of student activities has increased along with the corresponding number of students, but there is one major project which is still noticeably missing. This is a radio station, which is a necessity on any large campus. Such a station, would serve the dormitory students (although not exclusively) and would carry programs consisting of music, news and special events.

Back in 1955, there was some talk of establishing a station with the call-letters WRUB. In fact, an attempt was actually made to transmit experimental programs, but this failed. Last year, the project was brought up again, but there were more difficulties which forced the whole idea to collapse. As of this writing, WRUB is still a non-existent radio station.

Students and faculty members who are interested in starting a radio station should get together and try to form a definite plan for its operation. This will take a great deal of time and patience, but the benefits derived from such a project will more than compensate for the time involved. We have plenty of qualified people on this campus who can ensure the success of the undertaking, if they are willing to devote the time to it.

The major problem would seem to be the expense which would be incurred. Actually, if the station were operated on carrier current or FM frequency there would not be as much money involved, since the services of a professional engineer would not be required. Equipment could possibly be bought used (at least to start with), and with the help of the engineering department the installation costs could be cut as well. WRUB would serve many purposes: it would be a means of entertainment and cultural advancement for the listeners; it would help promote campus activities; and it would provide valuable experience for students who plan to go into the radio and television field. In short, it would be a great asset to the University campus.

Like any other project, however, a strong interest must be shown, or the entire idea will go to pieces. It must be a true "community" effort with full co-operation shown on all sides. The radio station can, and should be, a reality. We need it on this campus now, more than ever before, and there is no time like the present to begin working on it.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS — State Farm Mutual has introduced in California an insurance plan that allows good students a discount of 20 per cent in auto insurance rates. The plan is designed for unmarried male students under 25 years of age who have attained good grades. Women drivers in this age group have not been included in the plan because they already pay less for their automobile insurance. State Farm's "Good Student" discount plan is based on the fact that superior students generally spend more time at their homework, less time at the wheel of a car — and thus aren't likely to be involved in traffic accidents. Full-time students of high schools, junior colleges, and colleges may qualify for the discount if they can meet any one of the following requirements: rank in the top 20 per cent of their class; have a "B" average or better or a 3.0 grade average based on the 4.0 scale, or the equivalent; are on the Denas' List or Honor Roll, or similar scholastic list. These achievements must be verified by the school at the time a student applies for the discount. The company has a plan to offer the insurance in other states in the near future.

MONTANA STATE UNIVERSITY — The Montana State University newspaper asked recently how an athlete earns all the money a school gives him. The answer is: he spends more than 1000 hours of practice, meetings and trips during the school year in a job which pays less, is unbelievably more exhausting than any four hour job he'd find, and which becomes an increasing mental challenge as years go by. The athletic director of MSU stated that a "full ride" amounts to about $1000 a year. That means that a football or basketball player earns his money at the rate of less than 90 cents an hour. Most of all, the implications of the game's complexity must be con-

NSA ON CAMPUS

by Gene Gordon
NSA Coordinator

The University has been a member of the National Student Association for something like nine years. This period has seen many NSA Coordinators, some incompetent, others unwise. The present Coordinator falls in the latter category. He was very pleased to have been appointed Coordinator for he had long been interested in student affairs. He commenced his duties with great enthusiasm and made an embarrassing mistake: He made the invalid assumption that all students at the University shared an interest in and concern for student problems as manifested across the country and, indeed, throughout the world.

This naive mistake led him to bring NSA resolutions of national and world-wide scope before the Student Council, where they were viewed with much alarm. "It is not the function of the Council to take a stand on national matters." That this is the predominant sentiment among mem-

Student Council

Does NSA Represent The Student?

by Gene Conroy
Student Council President

You believe President Kennedy was wrong for trying to help the Cuban rebels in last spring's attempt to overthrow the self-professed communist Fidel Castro. Wasn't it great the way those Japanese students organized and demonstrated against President Eisenhower's scheduled visit in 1959? You don't want our government to resume nuclear testing. After all, we have been world leaders long enough. Let's give the Russians a chance. Equality and all that.

What! You don't like the way I'm talking, but you must agree you belong to the National Student Association and this is what they preach in your name. Why, every one of the NSA's proposals begins: "We, the students of the United States of America." Even if UB were not a member of the NSA, as an American student you would be a proponent of their resolutions.

NSA is a federation of 399 U. S. colleges. Quite a few schools, you might say, and UB is one of them. But remember there are 2250 colleges and 399 is only 20% of them.

When I took the office of president of Student Council, I was uninformed, but was impressed by the NSA's weekly propaganda. It proclaimed in glittering generalities and marvelous platitudes the unequivocal position of NSA on issues ranging from the abolition of HUAC to world disarmament. I began to wonder — was our job during four years of college to be answer-men for what ails the world, or is it perhaps a time to pursue an education and limit the legislation to matters of direct concern to us as students? But according to NSA's concept of "Student Interest," if one student can get involved or potentially be involved, we must have a resolution.

This year I decided to give NSA an opportunity to operate properly on this campus through the appointment of Gene Gordon as NSA coordinator. None of my comments here are meant to criticize Gordon's fine job. Gordon has kept myself, Student Council and the student body well-informed on NSA's activities in protecting student rights.

However, as I became better informed about NSA, I started to become a little pink around the gills. NSA seems to support any attack on established government, its agencies or policies, with the exception, of course, being Mr. Castro's type, which they seem to hallow. Other critics of NSA attack its dictatorial leadership, its overcrowded agenda of proposals, its false representation, or even its lack of value to the American student. In my opinion, the National Student Association has for 15 years been directing, rather than serving, the students of America.

Remember, "We the students of the United States of America," includes each and every one of you. When someone uses your name to support an argument or position, you at least expect them to consult you. Do you agree with NSA? Is college training us to be individuals, or is it training us to be members of a "me too" society of the NSA type? Become informed. Read about, question and discuss NSA as it pertains to you and your college. When the time comes, you will be able to voice your opinion on NSA.

Former Scribe Editor Offers Advice, Defends Self on Previous Policy

To the Editor:

As the former Scribe editor referred to in your editorial last week, I find myself prompted to take issue with a few statements that were made.

First of all, your action in editorializing on a letter in the same issue in which the letter appeared constitutes a breach of journalistic ethics. An editor's note should be the maximum rebuttal to a letter until the next issue, in fairness to the letter writer who must also wait until the next issue to comment on one of your editorials.

Scanning the content of the editorial in question, I find that you are blaming certain real or imagined inadequacies on the lack of training you received while I was managing the Scribe. I will grant that you received almost no experience of any value last semester, but where does the fault lie? The fact that I myself did many of the things that should be left to subordinates indicates only a tendency on the part of said subordinates to neglect to be where they should and do what they are assigned.

Mr. Hill, I am sure, can recall any number of instances when he failed to come to the printers at the assigned time, or neglected to attend a copy desk session. In addition, Mr. Hill constantly said that other activities interfered with his job on the Scribe, and it was always the Scribe which was neglected. Eventually, the situation got to the point where it was easier and faster to do things that were assigned to others than to try and find these others and learn why they are goofing off.

In closing, I would like to make clear the fact that I personally find no fault with the job the new editors are doing. But it seems that others do, and it seems also that the new editors feel they must implicate myself in explaining why these inadequacies exist. My statements of advice are two: first, don't let people force you into a position where you feel you have to apologize for something; and second, when you do have to admit a mistake, make certain you know where the blame lies.

Leonard Barlow,
Former Editor,
The Scribe

ED. NOTE: Your advice is appreciated, Mr. Barlow, but I am sure that you must be aware of the real reasons why last semester's staff seemed to be "goofing off."

Past Member of Scribe Staff Questions Advisory Board Position

To the Editor:

What was that old adage? Too many cooks spoil the soup; that's it isn't it?

Now we have the vice president of Student Council approving the editor of the Scribe. In plain English, how could he possibly know who is qualified for the job, unless he is a journalism major who is familiar with the requirements or an advisor to the Scribe? I doubt that he is either of these.

Being editor of the Scribe entails more than supervising all the work that is done by other staff members. The editor spends approximately four to six hours per week at the printer's, checking all copy for errors and, in general, preparing the paper for publication. This of course does not include all the work done at the office.

Perhaps this ruling concerning the Student Council vice president was set up with all good intentions by those in higher positions, but in this case I doubt that his suggestions or oppositions can do much good.

The editor of the Scribe must be a competent person familiar with every aspect of the University and with all events occurring at the University. He must be an outgoing person and be able to get along with all types of people. If he doesn't possess these characteristics he might as well give up.

As a former member of the Scribe staff I feel qualified, having worked under three editors, to voice the opinions above.

Friesner Voices Apology To Treasurer of Senior Class

To the Editor:

I would like to apologize to Miss Robin Altieri, who is treasurer of the senior class. In my letter to you of last week, I signed my name as treasurer. It had come to my attention that Miss Altieri is an education major and had not as yet fulfilled her student teaching requirements. Since this is her last semester at the University, I assumed that she would resign from Student Council in order to student teach. This is a common practice among senior education majors that have served on Student Council. This usually being the case, I believed that I had moved up from my alternate position to treasurer, which is standard procedure. It has now come to light that Miss Altieri's student teaching assignment will not hinder her activities on Student Council. I trust that this explanation will clarify my position.

Messers. Hill and Malerba in your editorial titled "Give Us a Chance, Artie" you mentioned that a soggy envelope was found under your door. Primarily, if the letter was inside of the door, how could it be soggy? Secondly, how is a student to get a letter to you? You have not run any announcements as to where a student may contact the Scribe. You have placed no easily accessible mailboxes on campus, so it would seem logical to an "illiterate" that a letter would be placed under your door after risking my life climbing the snow covered path to your office.

You felt "that the letter should be published immediately with an answer to its charges . . ." This is certainly taking an unfair advantage. It is common practice for a newspaper to print a letter and not answer it until the next issue or at best add a brief footnote. You have violated one of the basic rules of your "profession," that is the spirit of fair play. You of course realize that you are in a position of great trust and power. It is for you to use this wisely and with all care and consideration. A student who writes a letter should be treated with the same courtesy that you would treat one of your writers. This courtesy should include the correction of typographical errors and any obvious miswordings. You have not extended this courtesy.

I question the fact that you do not know the reason why you were not appointed by the Advisory Board. It would seem that you are either "uninformed" or that you are withholding information from the student body. The Scribe is a student newspaper. This classification as a student newspaper by definition places it in the hands of the students. Neither Mr. Muniec nor Prof. Jacobson should appoint an editor or editors without the advice and consent of the Ad-

Record Vote By Students Stops Buss

An opinion poll, run by Student Council on Feb. 8-10 to determine students' feelings towards bussing their own dishes in the Student Center showed that a vast majority do not want to do so.

The total vote showed that 688 students were against the measure and only 39 for it. This student turnout, incidentally, was the largest in any vote in University history.

Among groups who voted on the measure, Student Council reported 23 opposed to bussing, none for, with one abstention. The IFC had 14 opposed, one for, and the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors had 14 opposed and three in favor of bussing.

The following information pertinent to the voting was released by Gene Conroy, president of Student Council:

"It is proposed by Mealtime Management that the University of Bridgeport student body and guests to the Student Center dining hall buss their own dishes. Mealtime management has stated that unless this is done an additional $220 weekly expense will have to be covered through an increase in prices of meals, etc.

Various individuals and organizations on campus have already come out in opposition to this bussing. They have pointed out that the atmosphere of the Student Center will suffer greatly from this action. The detrimental effects of the action would far outweigh the additional $220 expense. The present volume of business in the dining room tends to make one doubt the economic pinch Mealtime Management claims it will feel by their additional expense."

Film Festival Initiated by Men's Senate

It has long been the desire of the Men's Senate to provide a series of good American motion pictures to complement the now-traditional Foreign Film Festival at the University, states Frank Miller, vice president of the senate.

Working independently, Men's Senate has now made arrangements to present four selections from an extensive library of domestic films, Miller continued. All showings will take place in Dana Lecture Hall and will begin at 8 p.m.

The present program, scheduled for Feb. 23, will feature "Gentlemen's Agreement," adapted for the screen by Moss Hart and directed by Elia Kazan. The principal actors are Gregory Peck, John Garfield, Celeste Holm, June Havoc and Dean Stockwell.

Other films to be presented include "Psycho," an Alfred Hitchcock production, on March 16; a film to be announced for April; and "Brothers Karamazov," a film based on one of the greatest of Russian novels, on May 11, Miller concluded.

Career Cues:

"This age of specialization opens special opportunities for the well-rounded man!"

Robert Saudek, President
Robert Saudek Associates, Inc.

"The more specialists society creates to cope with its complexities, the easier it can be for a non-specialist to achieve success.

If that seems paradoxical, look at it this way: the more men who go out for specific positions on the ball club, the more chance you have to wind up as manager!

Today's world — in government, business, the arts, even science — needs the well-rounded man. He's the man who can see the entire picture...the man who can draw on a broad background of knowledge, evaluate the problem, then assign the details to specialists.

The world of entertainment may seem somewhat special, but it's a case in point. These days, it demands more of its people than ever before. Today's musical comedy score is often as sophisticated as grand opera. Drama draws heavily on psychology and history. Television productions are concerned with nuclear science and political science. If you've ever watched 'Omnibus' you may have seen how our productions have run the gamut of a wide range of man's interests.

So I suggest to you that even though you may concentrate on one special field of interest, keep your viewpoint broad. Keep your college curriculum as diversified as possible. Attend lectures and concerts, the theatres and museums. Above all, read and read, and listen and listen! But pay scant heed to the oracle who says there's no route to the top but that of specialization. I don't believe it!"

Tuition, Board Fees Up Next Fall

Tuition and room and board fees will increase at the University by $25 per semester beginning in September, it was announced Monday by Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice president.

The decision to increase fees was made by the Board of Trustees, Dr. Littlefield said, "in order to meet the increased costs of operating the University."

Dr. Littlefield cited higher faculty salaries, the addition of new faculty and staff members, continued expansion of the campus physical plant, renovations of existing structures and increased general operating expenses as key factors in the fee rise.

Even with the increase, the University compares very favorably with sister institutions of comparable size and facilities, Dr. Littlefield pointed out.

"The Board of Trustees and the administration are doing their utmost to keep costs of attending the University as low as possible," Dr. Littlefield said. "We want all students to understand that increases are made only when absolutely necessary, and only to make the University a better institution of higher learning."

Tuition will increase from $700 to $750 for the 1962-63 academic year for all colleges except the College of Engineering which will go from $750 to $800. The residence hall fee for room and board will go from $775 to $825. Tuition at the Reading Laboratory will also rise to $750.

The semester hour fee for part-time undergraduate students will increase to $25 per semester hour from the current $22 rate.

Graduate course fees in the College of Business Administration and College of Engineering will increase from $27 to $30 per semester hour. Graduate courses in the College of Education will be $25.

approach any one of the committee members by leaving their NAME, LOCAL ADDRESS, and PHONE NUMBER in the AIESEC mailbox at the reception desk in Alumni Hall so that an AIESEC member may contact them. They may also attend an AIESEC meeting held every Tuesday at 4:00 p.m. in Alumni Hall, room 201.

This is a splendid opportunity for eligible students to travel to a foreign country. It is also beneficial to such students in that it will increase their job opportunities because of the foreign experience AIESEC offers.

Student Of the Week

Gary Schwager, a junior majoring in history, comes from Rockaway, N. Y. Schwager, who has been on the dean's list four semesters, is in pre-law and hopes to become a lawyer.

He is a member of the University's tennis team and is captain of his fraternity's basketball team. He belongs to Sigma Omicron Sigma (SOS) fraternity and has served on the rushing committee.

Schwager is president of the junior class and was also selected to "Who's Who" in American Colleges and Universities. He is a member of Hillel and treasurer of the Historical Society.

Schwager is chairman of the convocation committee, president of the Student Spirit Committee and is on the election committee of Student Council. He served on the Freshman Week Committee and is a past member of both the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors and the Alumni Hall Board of Governors.

Westport Man Wins Grand Prix

Peter K. Underhill of Westport has just been named one of four winners of the L & M Grand Prix Fall Contest. The other winners were Gordon Clogston of Dartmouth, Alexander D. Washburn of Amherst and Roger K. Lewis of M.I.T.

All four men won the 1962 Austin Healey Sprite MK II sports cars for their prize winning limericks in the contest, sponsored by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company for New England colleges only. Underhill's limerick was judged one of the winners in the Grand Prix Contest because of originality, aptness of thought and clarity.

Dartmouth's winner, Clogston, submitted the most limerick entries—21, while Lewis of M.I.T. sent in only one. None of the four Sprite winners had ever entered a contest before.

Although the Fall Contest winners are ineligible for one of the four Sprites to be awarded in the Spring Grand Prix Contest, all faculty, staff and students at the University are eligible. Entries are available at Conty's and the Bookstore.

Almost every scientifically trained man can find stimulating and rewarding career opportunities within the broad spectrum of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft activities.

From the solid foundation of 36 years as a world leader in flight propulsion systems, P&WA development activities and research investigations today are far ranging. In addition to continuing and concentrated development effort on air breathing and rocket engines, new and exciting avenues are being explored in every field of advanced aerospace, marine, and industrial power applications.

The reach of the future ahead is indicated by current programs. Presently, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft is exploring the fringe areas of technical knowledge in magnetohydrodynamics . . . thermionics and thermo-electric conversions . . . hypersonic propulsion . . . fuel cells and nuclear power.

To help move tomorrow closer to today, we continually seek ambitious young engineers and scientists. Your degree? It can be in: MECHANICAL ■ AERONAUTICAL ■ ELECTRICAL ■ CHEMICAL and NUCLEAR ENGINEERING ■ PHYSICS ■ CHEMISTRY ■ METALLURGY ■ CERAMICS ■ MATHEMATICS ■ ENGINEERING SCIENCE or APPLIED MECHANICS.

The field still broadens. The challenge grows greater. And a future of recognition and advancement may be here for you.

For further information regarding an engineering career at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer or write to Mr. R. P. Azinger, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford 8, Conn.

Marketing Club Announces Interviews for Spring Term

The Marketing Club wishes to inform those students graduating in June that they should prepare themselves for future employment by attending some of the interviews that will be conducted throughout the spring semester. Although the companies coming to the campus may not be representative of a student's particular field, the student might benefit from such an interview in that he will gain some insight into various businesses.

The following is a partial list of interviews which have already been scheduled: Feb. 28, Montgomery Ward; Mar. 7, General Electric Credit Corporation; Mar. 28, Humble Oil Company; Mar. 28, Woolworth Company; Apr. 9, U.S. Dept. of Health Ed. and Welfare; May (first week) Stern's Department Stores.

Students may sign up for the interviews at the Marketing Club meetings which are held every Wednesday at 1 p.m., in room 211 of the Student Center.

Some companies will not be able to send a representative this semester, but they will accept applications from seniors. These companies include: Philco Corporation; Ford Motor Company; Benton and Bowles Advertising; Alexanders (of New York).

Students may obtain the addresses of these companies and the name of the person whom they should contact by consulting the College Placement Directory in the Placement Office, third floor, Howland Hall.

To further aid students in finding jobs, the Connecticut State

Employment Bureau has an office on the third floor of Howland Hall. This office receives job opportunities from all bureaus in the state of Connecticut as well as bi-weekly reports of opportunities from all other states. Mr. Howard Pardee, who manages this office, extends an invitation to all seniors to visit his office and learn of the opportunities available.

75 Men Recalled To Dormitories

Seventy-five off-campus students have been recalled into the dorms as a result of the unexpected high rate of drop outs, stated Kevin O'Sullivan, Director of Men's Housing.

Students are chosen for recall into the dormitories by the class system, with freshmen and sophomores being selected first. If this is not enough to fill the available spaces, juniors are selected next, the ones with the lowest number of credit hours and lowest QPR's being notified first. However, those students who fail to sign off-campus release forms or attempt to circumvent the off-campus policy of the University in some other way are given first priority for recall, O'Sullivan continued.

O'Sullivan said that all freshman and sophomores were notified of their impending recall into the dorms as early as Dec. 1, but that juniors were notified so late because the University had no way of telling how many students would withdraw at the end of the semester, and consequently the amount was underestimated.

The Men's Life Committee, a joint student-faculty group, is studying all aspects of the off-campus problem in an effort to further improve procedure and other critical regulations.

Bridgettes Seek New Recruits

The Bridgettes, an all-girl drill team at the University, are holding a meeting on Thursday, Feb. 15, in room 205 of the Student Center and anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend.

The drill team is an organization that performs precision marching routines with the band at football games in the fall. Director of the team is Edward Pennell, who also directs several similar groups in the area.

Anyone who is interested but cannot be at the meeting next Thursday may contact one of the following girls: Pat Conroy in Stratford Hall; Marti Stoddard in Cooper Hall; Pat Mrazik at CL 9-9665; or Pat Blake at CL 9-5023.

NARCOTICS LECTURE

The Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors will sponsor a lecture on "Narcotics" in the Student Center's social hall tonight at 8 p.m. A member of the Special Services Division of the Bridgeport Police Department will be the guest speaker.

Weekly Calendar

A weekly social calendar, to cover activities both on campus and around the Fairfield County area, is currently being planned for the Scribe. The calendar will include both social information for the week and a chance for interested students to win free passes to different types of entertainment in the area. Anyone who would like to help with the project or wishes to contribute information to be added to the calendar is asked to contact Jack Csizmar in care of the Scribe.

Lupton to Speak Here

State Senator John M. Lupton of Weston, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will speak tonight at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the Student Center, it was announced recently.

Pledging Not to Begin Until After Mid-Terms

During the fall semester, 1961, it was reported that many students were involved in fraternity pledging activities at the same time as mid-semester examinations were being given. After a discussion of various aspects of pledging and the academic responsibilities of students, the Deans' Council felt that the most effective way to handle the matter would be:

- (1) To schedule pledging activities for the week following the date for the mid-term closing. (March 16, 1962)

- (2) That the professors be notified that all examinations must be completed by the mid-term closing date; in other words, no mid-term exams are to be given the following week; and
- (3) The cooperation of the faculty would be asked in terms of keeping test examinations to the minimum during pledging. Of course, the final decision would be in the hands of the individual faculty member.

Folk Singer Here Sunday

The Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors will present the noted folk singer, Leon Bibb, on Sunday, Feb. 18, from 3:00 to 5:30 p.m. in the Student Center's social hall. He will appear in place of the Teardrops, who were originally scheduled to be at the University on the same day.

Bibb, a native of Kentucky, has appeared in the off-Broadway productions of "Annie Get Your Gun," "Finnian's Rainbow," "Sandhog" and "Lost in the Stars." He has also made frequent television appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show and the Jack Parr Show. Bibb has made recordings for Vanguard Records and is now under contract to Columbia Records. At the present time, he is appearing at the Blue Angel in New York.

In his concert here, Bibb will be accompanied by guitarist John Stauber.

visory Board and the student body. The Scribe has long been a dynastic operation and this must stop.

You have asked for a chance, but you have no right to make this request. Any operation that receives 28% of the money Student Council allocates plus the money from advertising must not be a chance operation. You have taken a chance though.

The front page and total layout of the past issue was reminiscent of contour plowing on a New England hillside. Mr. Barlow, at his worst, never turned out an issue like this. Certainly you must have learned this much in your long hours of apprenticeship.

Another very sore point is that of "Student of the Week." You have long overlooked major campus figures, like president of Student Council, president of the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors, chairman of Student Activities, treasurer of Student Council or the captain of any team. You are certainly negligent in your duties.

I certainly realize that you are faced with many problems in putting out a newspaper. I can sympathize with you, but I can not forgive your glaring mistakes. It is for you to run a paper that is at least equal to the one Mr. Barlow put out. If you can not at least do this, it would be wise for you to cease publication.

sidered. When we leave a job, it is done for the day and we can study; but when an athlete leaves an intercollegiate locker room, he must overcome his tiredness, cast aside the game's complexities and attempt to concentrate on his books.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY — The students at Columbia want a cooperative bookstore for, as an ad hoc committee put it, "correction of bookstore inefficiency and high prices" could come only within the framework of a student-run cooperative. The committee maintained that students could spark money-saving management of the store. At the ad hoc meeting, which was attended by some 20 persons, it was also stated that increased volume of business and membership fees would bring in revenue adequate to provide discounts. The committee anticipated widespread support for a bookstore boycott which would be used only as a last resort to enforce demands for a cooperative. A spokesman for the group contended that despite small-scale reforms over the years, the fundamental problems of the bookstore had not been grappled with by the Student-Faculty Bookstore Committee. The Committee will direct its efforts at the Student-Faculty Committee which can recommend to the Trustees that a co-op be instituted.

Talent was presented last weekend which had previously been unknown to some of our student body. Friday night's IFC awards went to Beta Gamma's representative, Vicki Nalli, who presented a modern dance; and on the fraternity side, high at the top, was Kappa Beta Rho with their singing group.

Saturday night, the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors proudly found first, second, and third prizes for Marilyn Trew (vocalist, TE); the Four Keynotes (Girls' Barbershop Quartet); and Rod Roach and Mike Koskoff (Folk Singers). Congratulations to all. Who knows what young, handsome, rich producer or director may have been in the audience nodding his note of approval. Fame and fortune may be directly around the corner.

The social room will be the place for the Sweetheart Ball on Friday, February 16. The evening will be highlighted by the crowning of a queen who will be chosen from: Jill Faulkner, Debbie Hartley, Margie Lind, Jo-Anne Lipton, Marilyn Seger, and Linda Kritchfield. The lack of furniture in the social room may be the result of financial problems. Soooo, bring in those Blue Stamps — Green Stamps — and Triple-S Stamps today!!

The Student Board of Directors will present their lecture of the month in the social room on Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. The topic will be "Narcotics," given by a member of the Bridgeport Police Force.

On the agenda of "pinnings" we find Richie Connetta and Annette who are smiling enthusiastically about their big step. Alice Benefield of PDR was pinned to Steve Herman of Rhode Island University over the Christmas vacation — news travels really slow in that small state. Marcia "Spastic" Blackman (TE) and Bill Dixon (IDP) announce their news to the entire UB campus. Funny, how a little piece of gold jewelry on the left-hand side of a sweater can almost make a person "settle down." Best of luck and a special comment on love for you, Marcia (and all others interested): Take good care of it. It's hard to find!!

And going from pins to rings, congratulations and best wishes to Sheryll Shapiro and Howard Tedman of City College, who were recently engaged.

Last week a UB-ite called the Records Office to get the address of an alumnus so that he could forward the income tax forms to his permanent address. While holding the wire, a rather perturbed secretary went to the file cabinets. The inquirer heard (through the abandoned phone) chatter from the girls in the office . . . things like: "You should hear this one, a real pip!" And "This is a real cutie." What happened to the very public-relation-minded policy of the University? When the phone is off the hook, girls, the poor outsider on the other end is absorbing your comments. Let's try to give a good impression.

Congratulations from Schiott Hall to their representative for Best Dressed Girl, Priscilla Dunn, who will be entered as a finalist in Glamour's present contest. Good luck and have fun. Who is the boy in POC who's been dating a pinned girl??? And who's the pinned POC boy who's been dating another girl? With this warning, we leave until next week.

Currier and Ives, Hallmark Exhibit Works in Alumni Hall

An exhibition of some 18 original Currier and Ives paintings and the Hallmark exhibit of Saul Steinberg's "fantasies" is currently on display at the Student Center. The exhibits will continue through the end of February and are open to the general public.

The Currier and Ives exhibit has been made available through the courtesy of the Travelers Insurance companies. Steward S. Baker of the Travelers, is in charge of the arrangements at the University. The exhibit is one of eight collections of original prints now touring the country. These prints make up what is recognized as one of the most superior collections available.

Portraying America of the late nineteenth century, the Currier and Ives prints colorfully depict rural and urban scenes as well as events of political and social importance. This particular collection was started 22 years ago and 265 of the lithographers have been reproduced in calendars published by the insurance company.

What television and news papers do today is to illustrate contemporary culture Currier and Ives artists did for their own time, Baker said, the difference being that Currier and Ives were the first and foremost recorders of that period.

Fifteen original Steinberg designs of Santa Claus, which first appeared on Hallmark Christmas cards in 1952, comprise the Hallmark exhibit.

Applicants Needed Now For New CTC Group

by Lois Wiederschall

One of the most significant problems on campus has been that of finding an effective method of introducing the educational and social aspects of the University to prospective freshmen and transfer students. In an attempt to solve this problem, members of Women's Residence Association have formed a committee to work with Dean Kern in establishing a program of student-guided tours of the campus.

Beth Seligman, a sophomore living in Cooper Hall, had long considered that a student could present the University to prospective students in an honest, enthusiastic, and stimulating manner. Beth formed her ideas into a possible plan for action. She presented this plan to the Executive Committee of Women's Residence Association and Women's Senate. In both instances, the idea met with enthusiastic support. Beth then spoke to Dean Kern and Dean Wolff who also appreciated the importance of her plan and offered their help in implementing it.

Under the direction of Women's Residence Association and Dean Kern, a committee is being formed which will be known as the Campus Tours Committee (CTC). The main purpose of CTC is to present the school in an interesting and truthful fashion to desirable candidates for admission. Members of the committee will meet the prospective student and his family after their interview in the Admissions Office and will guide them around the campus, pointing out the places of specific interest and importance, and answering their questions.

In representing the University, the members of the committee will be the first to present it to prospective students. Not only will CTC members be representing the University, they will also be responsible for laying the foundation of the new student's attitude toward the school and student body.

Members of the committee will be chosen on the basis of their academic standing, interest, school spirit and appearance. Anyone interested in the committee is urged to place his name and local address on a slip of paper and leave it in Box 316 or 320, Cooper Hall.

Although established through the Women's Residence Association, the support of this program by all students will benefit both prospective students and the student body as a whole.

Teacher Honored

As a result of the showing of some of her works at the Child Hassam Fund exhibition at the American Institute of Arts and Letters, Mrs. Jennette Lam, assistant professor of art at the University, has been recommended for a grant award.

"Cathedra in the Woods, a painting by Mrs. Lam, is now in the permanent collection of the Illinois University Krannert Museum. Included in the permanent collection of NYU is Mrs. Lam's "Summer Hour."

Bowling Leagues Being Formed

Bowling leagues are now being formed at the University's Student Center bowling lanes. There are openings in the student men's five-man teams: "A" division, Monday, 5-7:15 p.m.; "B" division, Tuesday, 5-7:15 p.m.; and "C" division, Saturday, 2:30-4:45 p.m.

There are also openings in the following student women's five-lady teams: "A" division, Wednesday, 6-8:15 p.m.; and "B" division, Saturday, 12-2:15 p.m. There are two available spots in the student couples' league which meets Sundays from 1:15-3:30 p.m.

League play will begin as soon as there are six teams entered in each league. Team captains will be notified when league play will begin. Any inquiries should be made to Hans Schlaeg, secretary of the bowling leagues.

Thunder Reunion Here Sunday

On Sunday, Feb. 18, the cast and staff of "Queen of Diamonds" — Campus Thunder '62 will hold a reunion in the Drama Center on Hazel Street. The Thunder reunion is an annual affair under the sponsorship of the Office of Campus Productions and the Knights of Thunder, Inc.

For the occasion, the auditorium of the Drama Center will be divided into different areas representing various scenes from the musical and will be decorated with furniture, props and appropriate backgrounds.

Among the activities for the reunion will be the serving of a buffet supper and the playing of a tape of the show which was recorded this year in four-track stereo. The party will begin at 5 p.m.

Jeff Milet, '62, is in charge of the committee for the reunion. He is assisted by Jack Rosenberg, '62, George Sepe, '63 and, from the alumni, John Reed, '50. Albert A. Dickason is the advisor.

Knights Split Pair in Hoop Action

by Dick Sharpe

Last Saturday, the Purple Knights gained their second triumph in five Tri-State League games by edging a strong Hunter College team, 81-79, on a jump-shot by Danny Morello with three seconds remaining in the game. The victory, taking place in the Gym, snapped a five-game losing streak for Coach Gus Seaman and his squad.

The contest was a nip-and-tuck battle throughout with the lead changing hands 13 times and the game being tied 18 times.

With UB leading, 38-30, and minutes to play in the first half, Rich Colonnese committed his third personal foul and was removed from the game. With Colonnese on the sidelines, Hunter's big, man 6'8" Charlie Rosen scored repeatedly to knot up the game at halftime, 44-44.

Midway in the second half, the Hawks built up their biggest lead of the game, 64-59. At this time, Morello began scoring heavily to set the stage for his game winning score.

As the game neared its exciting climax, the lead changed hands with each score. With the score knotted at 79-79, Morello connected with the clincher.

Morello, well on his way to his second conference scoring title with a 26.6 points per-game-average, took game scoring honors by ripping the cords for 30 points on 12 field goals and 6 free throws. Joe Troiano tallied 15 for the winners and Joe Yasinski and Fred Schack each hit the nets for 10 markers.

The Hawks' two leading scorers Mayerson and Rosen, scored 24 and 22 points respectively.

The win booted the Knights record to six wins in seventeen outings while the Hawks have a 9-6 slate.

On Feb. 7, the Maroon Knights of Fairleigh Dickinson University invaded the Gym for a Tri-State League tilt and came away with a 99-79 victory.

Bridgeport led throughout the first half before the Maroons put on a closing spurt in the final minutes to tie up the score at halftime 42-42. Fairleigh Dickinson outscored UB 19-4 to take a commanding 61-46 lead after only three minutes had elapsed in the second half. Tom Fox and Marty Gozdenouch led the assault with each registering six points and scoring 24 and 21 total points respectively in the game. The Purple Knights were led by forward Danny Morello who poured in 28 markers. Joe Troiano tallied 14 and Fred Schack netted 11.

Frosh Hoopsters Tromp Hunter, FDU

A classy Bridgeport freshman team trounced Hunter College, 93-53, in the preliminary game on Feb. 10 to gain their third consecutive triumph. Gene Machado led the Young Knights with 23 points, while Joe Mandy netted 17. Coach Tom McCarthy's squad now has a season record of six wins and 10 defeats.

The frosh defeated the Fairleigh Dickinson yearlings, 66-53, on Feb. 7 on the winners' court. Machado took scoring honors for UB with 17 points, while Art Bernstein tossed in 16.
